APPLICATION OF CONSTITUTION TO TERRITORIES

The readers of the JOURNAL were informed through a dispatch published yesterday that the tariff bill introduced to apply to Porto Rico would not pass the house. Constitutional grounds were given as the cause for its insured defeat.

The minority in Congress have made a vigorous opposition to the unconstitutional bill. A number of Republicans sufficent to defeat it, who regard country above party or the wishes of the President and other imperialists, have resolved to vote against the bill which is assuring at least for the present that the republic in some matters has a majority of friends in the House of Representatives.

Yesterday morning's mail brought to the JOURNAL a copy of the protest made by Hon. Francis G Newlands, as a member of the Committee on Ways and Means, against the passage of the bill, from which committee the bill was reported.

Mr. Newlands' protest went to the House in the form of a minority report from the committee which was made on constitutional grounds. The report at the time it was submitted made an impression and caused much comment and discussion.

It contains an able statement of the reasons upon constitutional grounds given by our Representative against the passage of the bill. It is flattering to Nevada to say the least that should be said about the position of our Congressman to have a minority report sustained by an opposition House. It is more than a compliment to his general ability, as it is an acknowledgement of his ability as a constitutional lawyer and statesman.

We make some extracts from the report to give an idea of the grounds taken to support the position taken by Mr. Newlands in opposition to the majority report of the committee

"The purpose of the inquiry is to ascertain the status of Porto Rico and the Philippine Islands in their relation to the Government of the United States.

"The government of these insular possessions, outside of the temporary military government at present maintained and conducted by the President as Commander and Chief of the Army, must be framed by the Congress of the United States, and the question is whether the Congress has a free hand in all legislation relating to such islands and can exercise, without limit, all the powers of sovereignty, or whether the constitutional limitations and prohibitions apply to such legislation to the same extent that they do to Federal legislation operative within the area of the States composing the Union."

The extract above given contains a statement of the purpose sought by Congress respecting its duty, as outlined in the constitution, to outlying territory lately acquired by the United States, and as a logical sequence all else said would be to ascertain the extent and limit of the power of Congress over such territory.

The whole history and purpose of framing the constitution, when applied in government to States and territory acquired, is included in the following extract Upon a re-examination of the extract we learn that we have stated a fact that is contained in it respecting the purpose and application of the constitution in the particular mentioned:

"The entire history of the framing of the constitution indicates that the purpose of its makers was to organize a union of States; to permit the admission of States, and to permit the acquisition of territory for the purpose of organizing new States, and that over the entire country, both the States and the infant States, the constitution was to be the organic law, the charter of their liberties governing and controlling the action of the federal government."

We will present another quotation that excludes the idea of imperialism as sought to be applied to our newly acquired territory:

"The powers of Congress then, as created in the constitution, must be viewed in the light of the Declaration of Independence and the principles for which the war of independence was fought, and it is impossible to believe that any limitations put upon the legislative power, otherwise despotic, in favor of individual rights, individual liberties and individual lives, and for the purpose of securing equality of rights and uniformity of burdens, were intended to be applied only to that favored portion of the American people residing in the States and to be denied to that portion residing in the Territories.

"The character of the revolutionary fathers, the principles for which they contended, and the history of the times all prove that while their purpose was to make the people of the States the source of government, the government itself was to be equal and just and to extend over the entire American people, whether living in States or in Territories."

Could it be made within our purpose respecting the publication of the subject matter so ably stated in the minority report, we would publish the whole report, but our limited space will not permit of such publication. It is evident that our Congressman is not of the class to which Congressman Moody of Massachusetts belongs, who said in debate on the bill that he had very little respect for paper constitutions, which is the language of an imperialist and a worshiper of the English system.

Reno Will be the Terminus.

This Town May be the End of Freight and Passenger Divisions.

(Special Correspondence.)

SAN FRANCISCO, February 24—Today in conversation with a prominent official of the Southern Pacific company the latter informed me that the proposed cut-off from the C. & C. to a point on the Central Pacific at or east of Wadsworth would probably never be built, at least not in the immediate future.

"Our short line to Southern California" the official said, "will start at Reno."

"Have you purchased the V. & T. ?"I asked.

"I must decline to answer that question," he replied. "But this I will say: Reno will be made the terminus of a freight division from Rocklin. Subsequently the passenger division will be from Oakland to Reno."

"Will car shops be established at Reno?"

"Unquestionably."

STILL HOPE FOR BOERS

Special to the JOURNAL.

NEW YORK, February 24.—In a dispatch to a prominent Boer sympathizer in this city, Dr. Ledys says:

"The Boer forces in the Free State and Transvaal and also those in South Paardeberg have been reinforced and entrenched."

This is taken to indicate that the Boers have been able to recoup from the blow inflicted by Roberts' rout of Cronje's forces, and that they have again secured at least a defensive control of the situation.

London is on the Anxious Seat.

Special to the JOURNAL.

LONDON, February 25.—There is a feeling of suspense owing to a dearth of news from the battle front. The failure of news is inferred to mean that either the result of the engagement is yet in the balance, or that the tidings, when they do arrive, will be unpleasant reading.

HIS ADVANCE BLOCKED.

Special to the JOURNAL.

COLENSO, February 24.—Buller has been fighting unceasingly for three days in an effort to reach Ladysmith, but his progress has been blocked by strong opposition from the Boers, who have worked their heavy guns on the high hills with great success

Heavy Storm Is Raging.

News of the Wadsworth Mines.

[Special correspondence.]

Personal interviews with the milling men of Olinghouse show conclusively and without doubt that all the milling capacity of the district will be taxed this season to satisfy operators.

The mining experts from Salt Lake, who thoroughly inspected the Addie C. mine in Olinghouse canyon, and in the northern end of the district, pronounce it in average one of the best mining claims in White Horse district.

It is reported that there is a great amount of gold ore on the dumps in Olinghouse canyon at the present time that will show, in spite of reports to the contrary, that this district is one of the richest mining regions in the State of Nevada.

The greatest excitement in Wadsworth last week was furnished by Brooks McClane, who reported the discovery of an 18-inch vein of $75 rock. It was found on the north end of the Butte claim. It was discovered at a point that would naturally tap the Butte at 125 feet. This is considered by the miners as being one of the best finds of the season. We place a low average, but really believe from what we saw that the ore will be much better.

Big Hit Made by the Grau Company.

The bills at the opera house yesterday were "The Bohemian Girl" for the matinee and "Olivette" for the evening performance.

Both renditions were given before crowded houses. "The Bohemian Girl" is an opera that never grows old. Its melodies will never die. Even when produced by a mediocre company there is a charm about it that takes the hearer out of the groove of sordid life and awakens long-hidden sensibilities, but when a troupe having the voice and dramatic ability of the Grau company possess to render it, the hearer is spell-bound with delight.

Those who heard both performances pronounce "Olivette" as having been even a greater success that "Bohemian Girl." At any rate the Grau Company will have no difficulty crowding its houses at its next visit to this city.

Ruby Valley Mines.

We clip the following from the Austin Reveille, which doubtless received its information from W. H. Bray, who may be the expert referred to:

"There is a good deal of excitement in Ruby valley over a big copper discovery on the divide between Ruby and Butte valleys. Mining experts have visited that section and offered $38,000 for the locations owned by Kirkpatrick, Olgers and partner. These experts agreed to have whistles blowing on the mines within eight months if they got the property. Kirkpatrick and Olgers have three men at work on their claims and the Griswold Brothers have three men working on theirs. Nearly every man in South Ruby was making locations in that section last week."

Died in California.

Jacob E. Hess of Austin passed through Reno last night on No. 4. He was accompanying the body of his wife, who died at St. Helena. She was aged 45 years. Mr. Hess will be met at Battle Mountain this morning by a special train which will convey them home. Mrs. Hess will be buried from the Catholic church in Austin tomorrow.

Will be Buried To-day.

The remains of Mrs. Mansfield will arrive on the 9:30 train this morning and will be taken directly to the Catholic church, where funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock. The interment will be in the Catholic cemetery.

FLORISTON NEWS.

The Power Flume.

As soon as lumber can be secured from the mill, three thousand feet of flume will be built for the Electric Company, extending from the paper mill to Mystic, on the opposite side of the river. This work will commence about April first. Very few laborers are being employed at present but in two or three weeks quite a large force will be put on.

Temporary Bridge.

A trestle is being constructed across the river at Mystic, upon which a track will be laid to convey material for the new electric power house, which will be located at that point.

A Brilliant Scheme.

A scheme is on foot, whereby the Floriston Pulp and Paper Company, the National Ice Company, the People's Ice Company, Iceland, and the Union Ice Company, Boca, will combine to prohibit all fishing, except by special permit, along the river controlled by these respective companies, which includes State Line to Boca, for a period of two years.

They will restock the river at several points with a few thousand fish and will employ a man to see that their rights are protected and that no poaching is indulged in.

While this may seem to work a hardship on some who have fished for market, yet, they as well as all lovers of this sport will ultimately be benefited.

GREENHORN AT BASKET BALL.

The JOURNAL scribe had never until yesterday been so fortunate as to be initiated into the intricacies of the great American game of basketball. It is a very simple affair and the terms employed are so easily learned that the scribe feels very confident that he can accurately describe the practice game he witnessed in the gymnasium:

When the referee called time after examining the gloves, both sides advanced to the scratch. Susie (or some other name) led with her left and made a carom shot, Fannie trumped an ace and was fined a box of gloves. Josephine balked and Mary Ann was given a base.

The girls in blue tea gowns tried to buck center, but were caught napping on third. Katie made a feint with her left and received a sharp counter on her Psyche knot. Meanwhile the ball was advanced to center field on downs.

Everything was moving smoothly when Sallie attempted a bank shot and rocketed the cue ball, which ended the game.

OFFICIALS ARE OF TWO OPINIONS.

Yesterday Deputy Sheriff Hayes went up to the State Prison to bring Wm. Hammersmith to Reno to testify in the case against Simas. He returned without his man, Warden Henderson having refused to allow the prisoner the leave of absence.

On being advised of the Deputy's ill success last night, Judge Curler sat him down and indicted a spicy letter to the Warden.

The legal fraternity and the public generally will await with interest the outcome of the difference of opinion. Should the Judge find the Warden guilty of contempt of court and the Warden continue to be stubborn, the developments may be interesting.

A SURE CURE FOR CROUP

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years' constant use without a failure. For sale by Wm. Pinniger, Druggist.

Serious Charge.

Joe O'Neil of Rye Patch, one of the most prominent cattlemen of Humboldt county, was indicted by the grand jury at Winnemucca, last Saturday on a charge of cattle stealing. More indictments are expected to follow.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women and all feel this results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, and tired, listless run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just thing for a man when he is all run down, and and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have new lease on life." Only 50 cents at S. J. Hodgkinon's Drug Store Every bottle guaranteed.
